Career

2005–2007 FRONT-END CODER

---

My first employment as a user interface designer and front-end developer at 4ward. Good times, where I mastered CSS and all the hacks to make a website not crash at that naughty IE 6.

---

My first freelance steps. I was thrilled to work with clients, big and small, and help them bring their websites to life. A time where everyone favored skeuomorphism.

The apex years. I was working with wide-range of clients and was hired by 2 companies simultaneously, SMV Solutions & TooMuchMedia. Here I started to enter the UX world.

Full-time job at NOVPA (formerly Invideous), I had the pleasure to design revolutionary video platforms and various CRMs for third-party clients (Sony, Disney, Warner Bros etc.). The interfaces required deep insights of various user-case scenarios and behavioral pattern.

2013–2015 ICONS DESIGNER

The experimental years. I got a sudden passion for icons design, so I started crafting icon-sets and selling them as premium design assets.

2015–PRESENT PRODUCT DESIGNER

I got back on my primary career track. All the experience and variety of skills led me to have a deeper understanding of what makes a successful digital product, whether that is a simple marketing website or a complex CRM web app.
